Another Change of Gauge.

LOUISVILLE, July 28.—The pro-posed change in the gauge of the Lou-isville and Cincinnati Short Line road, which was to have been made Sunday, 30th instant, has been postponed until Sunday, August 13. Everything along the line is prepared and ready for change, but the narrow gauge rolling stock could not be got rom the East in time. The road will, when the change is made, conform to the gauge of its Northern connections, making through time from Louisville to Eastern cities without change of cars for freight or passengers. Changes will be made over the entire line, one hundred and eight miles in one day, employing four hundred and fifty men. Only one rail will be moved, except on bridges or trestle work, where both will be moved.
